

Navy Wounded Warrior

Navy Wounded Warrior (NWW) coordinates the non-medical care of seriously wounded, ill and injured Sailors and Coast Guardsmen, and provides resources and support to their families. Through proactive leadership, NWW offers individually-tailored assistance to ensure enrollees' successful recovery, rehabilitation and reintegration. The program allows service members to focus on their recovery goals while its team of experts resolves non-medical hurdles.

How Does NWW Operate?

Region NWW non-medical care management teams work with wounded warriors and their families to identify their goals and develop plans to achieve them. The teams are led by the region director, and recovery care coordinators oversee the development and execution of wounded warriors' Comprehensive Recovery Plans (CRP). Non-medical care managers anticipate enrollees' daily non-medical needs and resolve any issues that surface during the recovery process.

What is a CRP?

A CRP is an individualized plan developed by the non-medical care management team, the service member and his or her family or caregiver, which identifies and prioritizes enrollees goals. The CRP is a tool that helps service members remain on course throughout recovery, rehabilitation and reintegration.

How do Sailors and Coast Guardsmen Enroll in NWW?

Sailors and Coast Guardsmen may self-refer to the program or be referred by family members, command leadership, medical providers, chaplains, PEBLOS, and numerous additional sources.
